1. Short Title:

This policy shall be called the “Food security and hunger” within the Khwaja Fareed University of Engineering & Information Technology, Rahim Yar Khan

2. Objectives:

KFUEIT intends to play a vital role in achieving objectives of institution like learning and teaching, research & extended services and dissemination of information, etc. This policy is being introduced to achieve the following objective:

- It boosts the shelf life of food products.
- Prevent food-contamination.
- Food storage and Transportation.
- Turns raw food materials into attractive, marketable products.
- Provide employment to a large population.

What is hunger?

Hunger is an uncomfortable or painful physical sensation caused by insufficient consumption of dietary energy. It becomes chronic when the person does not consume a sufficient number of calories (dietary energy) on a regular basis to lead a normal, active and healthy life. For decades, FAO has used the Prevalence of Undernourishment indicator to estimate the extent of hunger in the world, thus “hunger” may also be referred to as undernourishment.

What is food insecurity?

A person is food insecure when they lack regular access to enough safe and nutritious food for normal growth and development and an active and healthy life. This may be due to unavailability of food and/or lack of resources to obtain food. Food insecurity can be experienced at different levels of severity. FAO measures food insecurity using the Food Insecurity Experience Scale (FIES) shown below:

Purpose

To estimate the prevalence of food insecurity among students and staff at KFUEIT; examine the association between food insecurity, demographic characteristics, potential financial risk factors, and self-reported physical and mental health and academic performance; and identify possible risk factors for food insecurity.

2.1 Methods

There are certain criteria that have to be compiled for the appropriate processing of food, right from the possibility of a pest or bacteria to invade and multiply on foods to the biological activity of foods. The following methods are applied for the proper processing of food:

- Peeling off the outer layers of the raw materials.
- Chopping or slicing
- Mincing
- Liquefaction
- Fermentation
- Emulsification
- Cooking
- Mixing
- Gasification such as the addition of a gas in bread or soft drinks.
- Proofing
- Spray drying
- Pasteurization
- Packaging

Drying

It is one of the traditional techniques that are employed to decompose food products. Exposure of food particles to sunlight to dry them is one such method done naturally. This process would result in the evaporation of moisture content from food, thus preventing microorganisms from invading the food. Moisture from food could also be removed by using hot air

Cooling

It is a technique of preserving food by slowing down the growth of microorganisms and action of an enzyme that is responsible for the rotting of food. Some of the food products such as meat, dairy products, and fish could be stored in a refrigerator thus increasing the shelf-life of the products.

Freezing

It is one of the regular processes that has been under use domestically and commercially to preserve a wide range of foods. Rapid freezing might have an adverse effect on the texture of food.

Heating

The majority of microorganisms and spores could be destroyed by applying sufficient heat to food items. One of the known examples includes boiling of milk.

Pickling

It is a process of preserving food in an edible and antimicrobial liquid. Pickling could be categorized into two types, namely fermentation and thermal pickling.

In fermentation pickling, bacteria present in a liquid produces organic agents which would act as preservation agents.

In chemical pickling, the food is preserved in an edible liquid that destroys microorganisms and bacteria.

3. Application:

The University shall support the good and healthy food supplies at KFUEIT. The Policy shall be applicable to within the jurisdiction of KFUEIT, RYK.

4. Removal of Difficulties:

If any difficulty arises in giving effect to any of the provision of this policy, the Vice Chancellor may make such decision, not inconsistent with the spirit of this policy, as may be necessary to remove the difficulties provided the decision is not ultra vires of the Khwaja Fareed University of Engineering & Information Technology, Rahim Yar Khan Act-2014.

The Committee performed the following tasks regarding Students Food Security/ Hunger
